

Project Title: Digital Customer Touchpoints – Consideration Stage (Smartphone Purchase)

Target Persona:

Professional, 28 years old, tech-savvy, limited disposable income. Currently researching to buy a new smartphone (budget ~$400–$600). She values battery life, camera quality, and value for money.

Hour-by-hour digital channel map

(Rows highlighted in green indicate active research for the upcoming purchase)

Time of Day	Channels Used & Why	Main Device	Content Types Engaged With
7:00 – 8:00 AM	Instagram – Scrolling stories and reels during breakfast. Follows tech influencers and phone review accounts.	Mobile	Short video reviews, unboxing reels, user polls in stories
8:00 – 9:00 AM	Google Search – Quick commute search for “best smartphone under $500 2025” + Reddit (r/PickAnAndroidForMe)	Mobile	Comparison articles, forum discussions, pros/cons lists
9:00 – 12:00 PM	(Work hours – minimal personal browsing)	–	–
12:00 – 1:00 PM	YouTube – Watches 10-15 min comparison videos (e.g., “iPhone SE vs Galaxy A54”) during lunch	Mobile	Detailed video reviews, side-by-side camera tests, battery drain tests
1:00 – 5:00 PM	(Work – occasional quick check)	–	–
5:00 – 6:00 PM	Twitter (X) – Follows tech journalists and phone reviewers for real-time opinions and threads	Mobile	Tweet threads, embedded benchmark scores, user replies
6:00 – 7:00 PM	Amazon / Best Buy – Reads verified customer reviews, checks prices, and compares warranty options	Computer (laptop)	Customer ratings, “most helpful” negative reviews, Q&A sections
7:00 – 8:00 PM	YouTube (again) – Watches long-form “which phone should you buy?” videos while cooking	Tablet	In-depth reviews, 6-month later reviews, durability tests
8:00 – 9:00 PM	Google Search – Searches specific queries like “Galaxy A54 vs Pixel 7a battery life” and opens 3–4 comparison websites	Computer	Side-by-side spec tables, written expert conclusions

9:00 – 10:00 PM	Reddit + Facebook Groups – Asks for final opinions in smartphone communities, reads local deals	Mobile	User experience posts, “should I buy?” threads, screenshots of deals
10:00 – 11:00 PM	YouTube / TikTok – Watches “one week later” vlogs and quick tips before bed	Mobile	POV usage videos, “things I hate” lists, discount code videos

Summary of green (research) rows:

- 8:00–9:00 AM (Google Search + Reddit)
- 12:00–1:00 PM (YouTube)
- 5:00–6:00 PM (Twitter)
- 6:00–7:00 PM (Amazon/Best Buy)
- 7:00–8:00 PM (YouTube)
- 8:00–9:00 PM (Google Search)
- 9:00–10:00 PM (Reddit + Facebook Groups)

Key insights:

- The customer switches between mobile (morning/commute/lunch) and computer/tablet (evening deep research).
- Video content (YouTube, TikTok, Instagram Reels) is the most influential format during the consideration stage.
- Social proof (Reddit, Twitter, customer reviews) heavily impacts her final decision.
- She rarely uses email or display ads – organic search and social recommendations drive her journey.